POSH WASH SHOWERS LTD. ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Posh Wash Showers is dedicated to its environmental policy.

We know that the outdoor events industry is working hard to improve its carbon footprint and we are committed to working along side them to minimize our environmental impact.

We are continually reviewing ways to learn about new initiatives that will improve our carbon footprint.

Below is an evolving list of the issues we have addressed

Posh Wash Customers

We encourage our customers to use eco-friendly beauty products to keep water contamination to a minimum

Posh Wash sells eco-friendly beauty products for customers to use.

Signage on water usage gives our customers a clear idea of how much water they actually use.

Fresh water is often transported on to event sites and then wastewater has to be collected and dispatched at a treatment plant – this is all done in large tankers that will increase the carbon footprint of a festival

Customers can buy re-useable charity water bottles from us – FRANK refill

Posh Wash Cleaning

We use environmentally friendly cleaning products

Cleaning products are bought in large containers and then decanted into small re-useable bottles – this reduces the amount of plastic packaging we use

Lots more Squeegees – we have increased our stock of squeegees to keep the showers clean and reduces the amount of cleaning products used.

We do a 'big clean' at the end of every event, all the shower units have to be thoroughly dried before we move on to the next venue. Traditionally we would use masses of blue roll to dry the showers, we have reduced the amount of blue roll that we use by 50% because we now use small squeegees to dry our showers.

Crew

We encourage our crew to walk or use a bike on event sites rather than drive a 4x4 unnecessarily.

They avoid using plastic, reuse when possible, and always recycle.

When we install our showers on green field sites we are mindful of the landscape and wildlife around us.
